THE LOVE OF FINERY LEADS FEMALKS TO BAD EXDS. Somewhere in Holletown lives a family named Melz, which has heretofore been unno-Metz, which has heretolore been under tiond in our country's annals, not per-haps from any inherent fault, but be-cause its doings have been past finding out. On Saturday, however, the secret ways were made plain, and the wife, Mrs. Christina Metz, and her young daughter, Anna, thirteen or fourteen years old, sont to jail, there to remain years old, sent to jail, there to remain until they can give substantial bail for their appearance at the May term of the Circuit Court.

The immediate cause of Mrs. Christius, and her daughter Anna, being deprived of their liberty, was, that they had willfully, teloniously and maliciously, took, stole, or otherwise carried of the property of Miss. way, a portion of the property of Miss. Rebecca J. Baker, milliner in Centre

Rebecca J. Baker, militar in Centre Wheeling.
One day last week Miss Baker missed from their accustomed places a velvet hat, and bonnet of the same expensive material, which, together, were valued at fourteen dollars. For some reason or other she suspected the Metz family of having been concerned in their dis-appenrance, and without delay took out an any of the proper content and the content and any penaranee, and without delay took out a search warrant for their premises. This was pinced in the efficient hands of officer Hugh Harrison, who proceeded to the residence of the Metz family on Saturday morning. After a thorough search, he was successful enough to find the missing articles carefully stowed away in a place which, it was hoped by the deluded Metzs, no prying eyes would ever gaze into. Mr. Harrison, as in duty bound, forthwith arcested Andrew Metz, the paternal head of the family, and took him to 'Squire Johnson's office.

At ten o'clock in the morning, Mr. M. was examined but succeeded in proving his own innocence. It was fearfully apparent, however, that Mrs. Christina, and her daughter, Anna, were the gullty parties. The mother was, therefore arcreted and retid, and required to tina, and her daughter, Anna, were the guility parties. The mother was, therefore, arrested and tried, and required to give buil in the sum of four hundred dollars for her appearance at the May term of the Circuit Couri; failing in which she was sent to Jaul.

During the afternoon, Anna, the daughter, was brought before the same Justice, and also committed.

Robbery-A Man Has Taken from Him Five Hundred Dollars in Gold and Him Fice Hundred Dollars in Gold and Silver, Through the Agency of Fire.—On last Thursday night, the house of Mr. Enoch Moslander, who lives by himself on Little Grave Creek, about four miles from Moundsville, Marshal Co, was entered by four men, who demanded his money. Mr. Moslander told them he had none. The robbers, however, would take no denial, and again called upon Mr. M. to deliver up his cash. A second time be stated that he had none. The robbers then caught him, and threw him on a large wood cash. A second time no stated that is had none. The robbers then caugh him, and threw him on a large wo fire which was burning in the fire place and held him on it. This was bringin matters to a crisis, and as Mr. M. ha no desire to roast for the sake of a fe hundred dollars, he consented if the would take him off the fire, to tell the where the money was. To this the where the money was. To this they agreed, and removing him from his uncomfortable position, were made acquainted with the hiding place of the

A gentleman, who does business in the candy line, happened to get hold of the rooster Saturday night, and forthwith took him into Logan's Drug Store, in order that a gentleman there, who has an eye for fowl, might see his points. The rooster was placed on the counter, and one of the parties present set about irritating him by striking at him with his hand. This was accomplished without much difficulty, almost the first motion causing the cock to bristle up motion causing the cock to bristle used derow. As a matter of cariostry, looking glass was taken down from its nail, and set before king Chanticleer. The bird saw his reflection in the glass The bird saw his reflection in the glas He supposed it was a rival. He did't do the Narcissus, however, and pin away for love of his own beautift shadow. No, he was true to his ir stincts, and flying at the seeming coe with all the fury of his natur struck with his spur, not the reflection but the glass, shivering it to pieces, "That cock will fight."
